Author Topic: Good morning Muggles (Read 590 times) Hello everyone, I am very excited to introduce myself. I'm a new member on here. I am from the state of Indiana. I am 30 years old. My husband and I have been married for 7 years. Our honeymoon was not in a castle, but it was wonderful!! We have a son who will be 4 months old next month. He is amazing. I have wanted to become a SAHM for a while and it is wonderful. I am so happy to have found this forum and be able to meet people from around the world and share our journey. Welcome, and Congratulations on your New Baby! Nice to meet you, and I am so glad you're here! Welcome to the forum! I'm happy that you've joined us here. A few years ago, I became the SAHM in my family (including our now 17 month old son). I'd never been a SAHM (I had been married once and stayed at home for awhile) but I really liked it. My husband doesn't work, but has a part time job and I work full time. It's a great balance and we're both really happy with the arrangement. I agree with all the previous posters, that having this community around you is a huge benefit to a SAHM. It's also great to be able to share tips and answers to questions with others in a similar situation. We have very little family here and I'm lucky that I've found this wonderful group of women! Sorry this is a bit long! I had to vent, and you seem to be a nice lady! (I am a bit of a venter - so much so I'd be put on

The free Zimbra Mail Server includes many features, such as spam filtering and e-mail account setup wizard. While it is free to try, you will have to pay for access to the full package. The online help says that Zimbra can be used free for development and personal use, but it is not clear if your account expires after a set period of time. The product is not free, but it has been tested to work well on Windows XP and Vista. Installation is a simple process and it will work with just about any mail account and POP3 or IMAP access. A single-box server package, which includes a Web interface, costs $20 per month for the basic plan and $20 per month for the pro plan. That includes an installation CD, as well as software licenses. The free version has 30 days of free access to all features. It is not compatible with the pro features, so if you want access to the server for longer than that, you'll have to pay for the full version. While there are several other free mail solutions out there, Zimbra does a good job of keeping all of your mail synchronized, as well as providing a host of other features. The software provides some of the best spam filtering we have seen, as well as features to help you organize and send e-mail messages. It's quite well-designed, although we found the Web interface to be slow at times. The system offers a number 1d6a3396d6
