Aero Reg Cube Icon set License: Shareware (non-exclusive)Q: Best way to create a table with search boxes? I have a table where I have a bunch of rows. Every row has an id that I need to access in the backend (to get info out of the DB and show the info in the row). The problem is that the table is of a dynamic width (depending on the number of rows in the DB), so that I can't have a fixed number of input boxes like you'd see in a website. What I want to do is create a table that looks like this: (source: dragchuck.com) What would be the best way to do this? Is there a way to add the search boxes into the table itself? Or is it best to do it through jquery (with the jQuery UI toolkit)? A: Here is a minimal example of what you can do (fiddle): HTML: 1:234 2:435

If you don't know what to call it, I don't know how you could have missed a keymacro. Keymacro is a script that will make keyboard macros. You press a sequence of keys (code) and the macro is performed on whatever is in focus. I've been using keymacro for quite a while now, and I still use it quite often. In this pack, we have made two keys, 'S' and 'O' that are associated with the.ICO file extensions and 's' and 'o' that are associated with the.PNG file extensions. The files that are labeled with the.PNG extensions are more appropriate for smaller images that fit nicely on a variety of computers, whereas the.ICO files can be used for bigger icons.
